First freeze-dried plasma product licensed in the U.S.

The FDA has licensed Ezplaz Freeze Dried Plasma for adult transfusions when other plasma products aren't available.

If you're an adult who needs plasma for a blood transfusion and other plasma products aren't available, the FDA has licensed Ezplaz Freeze Dried Plasma (FDP) for use in the United States.

Freeze-dried plasma is a form of plasma (the liquid part of blood) that has been dried for storage, and is given by transfusion when needed.
