UPDATES

Correction for convenience kits containing recalled lidocaine, bupivacaine and saline

FDA-safety says some convenience kits with recalled saline and numbing medicines should not be used.

If you have a convenience kit that includes saline and lidocaine and bupivacaine from the affected lots, this correction matters to you.

FDA-safety says the saline, lidocaine, and bupivacaine from these affected kits should not be used.

What to do

- Do not use the saline, lidocaine and bupivacaine from the affected convenience kits.

Where this comes from

- fda-safety

  http://www.fda.gov/medical-devices/medical-device-recalls-and-early-alerts/convenience-kit-correction-arrow-internation