Prince Bakery recalls breads due to undeclared milk or sesame

CDC · Food safety

If you have an allergy or severe sensitivity to milk or sesame, this may affect you. CDC says Prince Bakery Inc is recalling multiple Prince brand breads.

The recall is for Prince brand Sesame Italian Bread, Large Italian Bread, Large Sesame French Bread, Long Sesame French Bread, and Pan de Manteca Spanish Style Bread.

These products may contain undeclared sesame or milk, which can be risky for people with these allergies.

Class II inspection recall for mirabegron extended-release tablets

FDA · Recall

If you take mirabegron extended-release tablets for bladder symptoms, the FDA says there is a Class II problem with certain bottles.

The issue is linked to an out-of-specification (OOS) test result for an impurity called N-nitroso mirabegron.

The FDA notice was published 2026-08-12 and says the product was distributed nationwide in the USA.

FDA approves TREGZI for Treg cell immunotherapy in blood cancer transplants

FDA · Announcement

If you are an adult with a blood cancer who is having an allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplantation, the FDA has approved TREGZI, a regulatory T (Treg) cell-based immunotherapy.

Allogeneic transplantation uses donor stem cells. Graft-versus-host disease (GVHD) is when donor immune cells attack your body; the approval is for chronic GVHD-free survival.

The approval was announced on 2026-06-30. If you are being considered for this transplant, ask your transplant team whether TREGZI is part of your treatment plan.
